Her work on policy issues relating to international trade law and private international law led to her representing Australia at international meetings on these subjects and to her work on the implementation of the United Nations Convention on Contracts for the International Sale of Goods. Subsequently, she held the departmental position of Legal Adviser in the office of the then Deputy Prime Minister and Attorney-General, the Hon. L F Bowen.

In September 1988, Deputy President Forgie was appointed to the Tribunal. Between 1993 and 1999, she also held part-time positions as a Deputy Chairperson of the Land Tribunal and as a Member of the Land Court. Both were Queensland appointments. They gave her the opportunity to hear matters beyond the broad and diverse range that she has heard, and continues to hear, as Deputy President of the Tribunal. In addition to her casework, Deputy President Forgie has enjoyed the extensive opportunities she has previously been given to draw upon her management skills. She has been responsible for case management in the Queensland, Victorian and South Australian Registries and has been an active member of the Tribunal's various management committees over the years.

She has held various positions on professional associations, an arts council and a charitable organisation.
